Dear M. Figari,

We, too, should like very much to see you again before you go away, but as I told you in my previous letter, our time is a good deal taken up just now partly because we shall shortly be removing from this house into another and we are at present occupied with the arrangements. In any case, we shall be happy to see you on Sunday next after half past five, if you are free. We are going to a concert in the afternoon but expect to be back about that time, and shall be delighted if you can come then.

With my best wishes, believe me,
Yours sincerely,

Lady Schuff

I hope you will let me know whether you have succeeded in making arrangements with Mr. Farnes. I should like to feel that I have been of some service to you & it is most unfortunate that we happen to be rather overwhelmed these days that you are here.
