LONDON NOTES

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18. Prince George of Wales continued yesterday to make satisfactory progress. At its meeting yesterday, the London County Council resolved by 39 votes against 12 that, subject to the Hackney District Board agreeing to contribute 10,000l., or one-fifth of the cost, it would offer 50,000l. for Hackney Marsh, an area of 337 acres, in order to secure it as a public recreation ground.

forth his Imperial decree explaining the Roman Catholic and Protestant teachings, and declaring it to all the people in the 13 provinces. Then let this Imperial decree be engraved on stones and placed throughout all the provinces, one in every Yamen, college, private school, public hall, in every village, market town, and city, and one in every great ancestral hall. If this be done, the Chinese convert declares his belief that the rebels will have no power to use their cunning, for the foolish people will not give them a chance to deceive them. If it be not done, he adds, "China will always be as in the past—sometimes swallowing and again spitting out, sometimes protecting and again seeking to turn the Chmuchs out."
